ABOUT ME

- I started working from an early age and since then I have been doing it in different places, which has given me a lot of skills, like perseverance, hard-work and adaptability
- I have worked and studied Engineering at the same time for 6 years and I also have been able to get things I LOVE in my life, like travel a lot and meet amazing people, become a licensed fitness instructor and become a great basketball referee.
- In this pursuit of doing things I love, In September 2020 I decided I wanted to shift my career from engineering to programming. So I started learning Python and web development with Django, with some front end skills, with the intention to keep growing and learn Data Science too
- After 5 months studying I decided to launch an amazing website to showcase my work. You can find it on the left.
